Dear President George W. Bush & Honorable Members of Congress:

As a citizen/legal resident of the United States of America I would like to urge you to support the passage of a fair and just immigration reform bill this year. We are living during a critical time when the decisions that our leaders make today will have significant ramifications for the direction that our great nation heads in the future. Fair and just immigration reform is needed to address the current and future challenges our country faces and will continue to face in its future. We must renew and embrace the fundamental rights upon which this great nation was built: Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. As you ponder the fate of millions, I stress the need for you to include the following points in any immigration legislation that is considered for enactment into law:

- Allow families and individuals already leading a productive life in the United States of America the opportunity to achieve legal status by qualifying to apply for permanent residency and citizenship within a structured, well monitored and humanitarian application system.

- Provide for expedited processing of immigration cases that involve parents of small children, in order that these children can grow up with both of their parents.

- Implement a migrant worker program that will protect migrant workers and their families from exploitation, as well as provide the necessary workforce that is vital to our country's economy.

As a citizen/legal resident of the United States of America, I appreciate your attention to these concepts that I hold dear.

Sincerely,
